

Development of a vision of the future

Creating orientation and clarity for your long-term direction.

Relevance

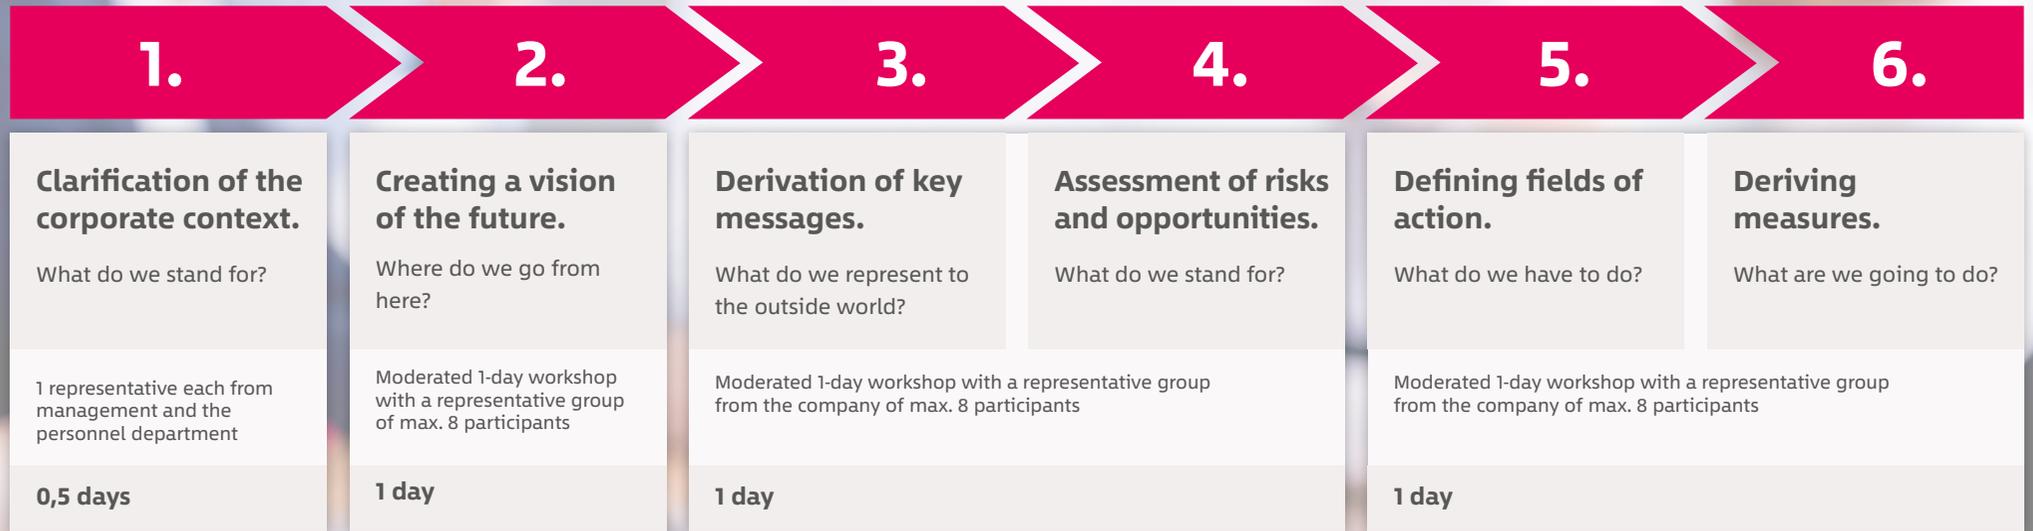

A clearly articulated vision of the future has a meaning-giving, motivating and action-guiding effect on employees, managers and owners because:

*»When the mind is set on one goal,
many things come to it.«*

(JOHANN WOLFGANG VON GOETHE)

The relevance of a vision of the future has increased significantly in the modern working world: companies are facing demanding transformation requirements in order to cope with the complexity of a rapidly changing era (technical progress, shorter product cycles, digitisation, etc.) while at the same time facing increasing uncertainties. In this context, the pull that emanates from a strong, emotionalising vision of the future is indispensable for modern, agile leadership.
